Course Synopsis

This course introduces students to management information system available in all contemporary business organization.

It involves the development and use of information systems that help organizations achieve their goals and objectives. In the 21st century every significant advance in business will involve technology.

Whether you want to make healthy food faster, or design and build greener cars, or reduce costs in the supply chain, these opportunities will involve technology, and most will involve information systems in one form or another. Students need to understand, recognize, and fully appreciate the power of technology and how it drives information flow and management practices.
